How Can ECLPS Certification Benefit My Educational Institutional?

Investing in this education leader's certification course empowers individuals to become effective leaders with a research-informed and future-focused institutional vision. They will learn to create a master plan for a well-designed space and generate professional development units for educators, leading to better learning outcomes. Encouraging others to become ECLPS certified adds new leadership depth and builds confidence, ensuring decisions are based on the latest research. At a cost comparable to attending a conference, attendees gain two years' worth of professional education units while engaging with peers, instructors, and experts. The knowledge will enable the attendee to become a recognized campus:

- Leader: One who leads future-focused innovation with the acquisition of specialized, research-informed knowledge and skills with the intent of connecting learning practices to intentional design solutions supportive of inclusive, learner-centered pedagogical models.
- Expert: Connecting research, course-specific tools, and interdisciplinary knowledge for how human behavior is impacted by design across time and space.
- Change Manager: One who understands in-depth the complexities of moving an organization through change using Change Theory Methods, connecting the intersections of science and design, and preparing the institution for the development of Performance Design Standards to positively impact environmental factors often generating barriers for learning.
- ECLPS Certified Professional: Attain official recognition as a specialist in connecting intentional, research-informed designed learning spaces to optimize learning outcomes.

Requirements and Expectations

- Course Overview: A three-term commitment [fall, winter, & spring], 32 courses, bi-monthly LIVE Zoom calls, homework, and project submittals assessed for competency.
- ECLPS Program Certification Cost: EDmarket Members is $3,700 / Nonmembers $5,000
- Flexible Learning: Certification uses a Hybrid learning experience focused on andragogical principles.

Professional Development

- Career Advancement: Enhance one's credentials and prospects with ECLPS certification. Acquiring Continuing Education Units: 32 AIA-approved CEUs, 24 HSW's [Health, Safety & Welfare].
- Collaboration: Connect and become a part of a cohort network with other educational leaders and entity specialists to exchange ideas, resources, and best practices.
- Generate Informed Decisions: The individual's commitment to study this robust, research-informed content, and reach a confidence level to ask the better questions.
- Access to the Education Market Association (EDmarket): Certification opens doors to partnerships and collaborations within the EDmarket community.

EDmarket Certified Learning Place Specialist (ECLPS)

Is a research-informed leadership program providing a holistic framework, course-specific tools, and industry legends' expertise needed to effect positive change in future-focused learning environments helping improve student performance. The program is built upon generating a multidisciplinary dialogue enabling stakeholders across the three domain community entities [i.e., architecture/design/facilities; education leadership; industry partners] associated with the delivery of education to apply research insights for how the 'cueing' of designed spaces impacts human behaviors.
