EDmarket Announces Solomon Coyle Project Management Training

Gaithersburg, MD (September 1, 2023) — The Education Market Association (EDmarket) has partnered with Solomon Coyle to bring you the next Project Management training course, which will be starting on October 12, 2023. This course is an excellent opportunity to take your professional development to the next level, particularly if you work in the educational marketplace.

Solomon Coyle's project management training program is designed to help dealerships protect and increase margins by managing the client, contract, and project effectively. Over five weeks, members will learn from industry-leading experts in furniture project management and gain access to valuable tools and best practices to help avoid costly mistakes and deepen customer relationships. Their training is delivered via Microsoft Teams, offering synchronous and asynchronous learning for easy access. Attendees will receive session handouts, workbooks, forms, checklists, and other professional tools to aid in their learning — successful completion of the program results in a certificate from Solomon Coyle.

Program details are available at: <https://www.edmarket.org/training/pm-training/>.
